LOGLINE

In the wake of personal losses, a reserved artist and a stranded accountant embark on an unexpected road trip, encountering catharsis along empty highways and bonding as they navigate their way home through iconic American landscapes.

SYNOPSIS

Tom, an unhappy artist, has to fly to Minneapolis when he learns his mother has died. Lilly, an accountant, is on the same flight. Lilly has an incident on the plane and ends up on the no-fly list. Tom is driving home because he hates flying. They agree to go together.

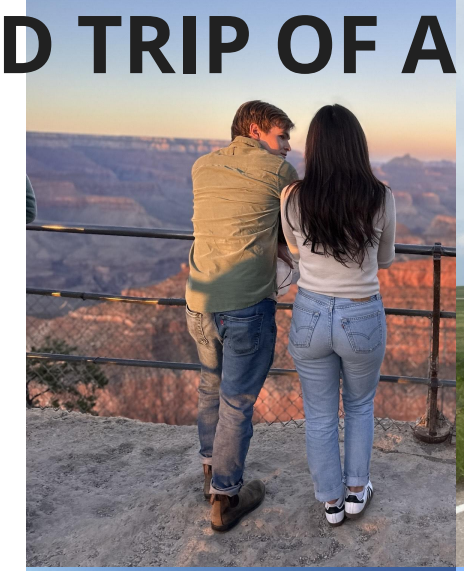
Once they’re on the road, Lilly convinces Tom to take a more scenic route. The two of them discuss their lives as they get to know each other.

The two reflect on their journey when they reach the Grand Canyon, and the large unknown future ahead of them.

THE ROAD TRIP OF A LIFETIME

2,869 miles. 7 states. 12 crew members. 2 actors. It was vital to capture the magic of the road. Being on these beautiful roads for hours on end really impacts the relationship of those you travel with and that was exactly what we wanted to capture between Tom and Lilly. So we set off from Minneapolis in 4 vehicles and did just that over 10 days. There were challenging moments, serendipitous moments, and a lovely little town in Wyoming where amazing things happened.

Adventure Tom is all about the unknown adventures you will face and we took that to heart.



TOM, THE ARTIST

A big part of who Tom is, and how he communicates, is through his art. He is a comic book artist who likes to sketch regularly.

We see moments where Tom's drawings come to life in the story, capturing how Lilly describes her life, or even his own anxieties.

Working with Dramantram Productions, we developed several sequences of animation that flow throughout the film and captures Tom's artistic style.
